WITNESSES PLEA AFTER SEX ATTACK IN DAYLIGHT

Man who assaulted dog walker hunted

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

DETECTIVES are this week appealing for witnesses after a young woman was sexually assaulted in Harlow in broad daylight.

The terrifying attack took place on Monday morning while the victim, who is in her 20s and lives locally, was taking her dog for a walk.

According to police, she was in Paringdon Road near its junction with Parsloe Road, when she was attacked by a man who was wearing a hooded top which he had pulled up to hide his face.

Fight

He grabbed the victim and attempted to pull her into some nearby bushes, but she was able to fight him off and he fled.

Police said the woman suffered no physical injuries in the attack, which took place at 11.20am, but was left badly shaken by her ordeal.

She was able to tell officers the man who attacked her was white, about 6ft tall and aged between 35 and 40. As well as the black hooded top, he was wearing blue jeans.

A spokesman for Essex Police said officers wanted to talk to anyone who thinks they may have seen a man lurking in the area of Paringdon Road, where the attack place, or anyone seen running away afterwards.

"We have not had anything that would give us more indication about that man so if anyone has seen anything suspicious then please do let us know," he added.

■ If you have information about the attack or saw a man hanging about in the area contact Detective Sergeant Ian Krout of the Essex Police sexual offences investigation team on the non-emergency 101 number, or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555111.

Children's film favourite is fun day star

A LONG queue of fans wanting to be photographed with an A-list film star formed in Harlow town centre on Saturday.

The VIP visitor was none other than Paddington Bear, in town for the summer fun day held in The Water Gardens.

He was just one of the many attractions which kept families and shoppers entertained during the day. These included Punch & Judy shows, street entertainers, face painting, bouncy castles, animals from Pets Corner and live music from Aaron Norton.

More than 700 portions of popcorn were given out, and the management of the shopping centre also hosted a special marmalade workshop for youngsters who, having met Paddington, could then make their own marmalade sandwiches with a helping hand from staff at the Asda supermarket.

The meet-and-greet session with Paddington proved so popular that the queue had to be stopped, with more than 586 children getting to see the star of the recent film.

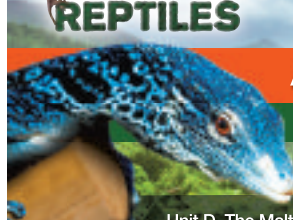

Water Gardens manager Beryl Murphy said: "It was a fantastic day."

"We always knew Paddington Bear would be popular but this was incredible."

"It was great to be able to bring Paddington to Harlow."

Residents urged to have their say in regeneration campaign

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner:hertsessexnews.co.uk

DOES Harlow need more retail shops or a better night-time economy? Would it benefit from a mix of stores and homes? These are the type of questions a new campaign to regenerate the town centre is seeking to answer.

The campaign was launched last week by Harlow's Conservative councillors who are calling for the state of the town centre to be made a priority and action taken before it is too late.

Labour-run Harlow Council, which has already pledged to pump £1m into the heart of the town, has announced its support for the campaign.

This week Conservative group leader Andrew Johnson said: "I want to hear from the people of Harlow. I trust their judgement and want their views."

"There are 83,000 people in this town and, should they wish, they should all have their say."

"I am not arrogant enough to believe politicians have all the answers and I am sure there are comments and ideas from the public that will come up that we haven't thought of before."

1. What is your favourite thing about Harlow town centre?

2. What is your least favourite thing about Harlow town centre?

3. How many times per month do you use Harlow town centre?

4. What shops would you like to see in Harlow town centre?

5. What restaurants would you like to see in Harlow town centre?

6. What is the one thing that would improve Harlow town centre for you?

7. Are there enough facilities for children and families?

8. What night-time entertainment do you use Harlow Town Centre for?

9. Where else do you shop? (up to three answers)

10. What is your overall opinion of Harlow town centre – the good, the bad and what needs to be improved? This is your opportunity to tell us anything else you wish.

Your name & address.....

SEND TO: Cllr Andrew Johnson, Save Harlow Town Centre Campaign, Harlow Council, Civic Centre, The Water Gardens, Harlow, Essex CM20 1WG

On Friday, council leader Jon Clempner said the town centre is a priority for the authority which is committed to working in partnership with interested parties both inside and outside the council.

"When I was reappointed council leader in May I said improving the town centre was one of my key priorities and the council has set aside £1m in its budget to support the regeneration of the town centre," he said.

"We are already working with a range of partners and the town's MP to achieve improvements in the town centre. It is one of those issues where there is agreement across the political groups."

He added: "The cabinet portfolio holder for regeneration and enterprise and I are committed to working in partnership both inside and outside of the council to improve the town centre and will create an all-party group to look at proposals as they come forward.

"We also look forward to working with the Star on this campaign and to encourage residents and businesses to give their views on how our town centre can be improved."

He added: "This is very much a long-term project but I am confident this campaign will help generate the confidence for the private sector to invest in Harlow."

Joshua steps up to share stage with BGT winners Diversity

A DREAM came true for one lucky 10-year-old when he got the chance to perform with his idols, the street dance troupe Diversity.

Joshua Lipman, who is a member of Harlow performing arts group Makin' Steps, took to the stage with the Britain's Got Talent winners at Butlins in Bognor Regis.

STARSTRUCK: 10-year-old Joshua Lipman with members of the street dance troupe Diversity after he performed with them at Butlins

The talented youngster was picked from hundreds of others to join Diversity on stage after impressing member Jordan Banjo during a workshop at the holiday camp.

During the workshop, dancers were taught a routine to Mark Ronson's hit song Uptown Funk ft Bruno Mars. A handful of dancers were then picked to join Diversity on stage later that evening.

Mum Alexandra said: "We're so proud of him. It was an absolutely incredible experience for him, dancing with his idols." Joshua, who has been a member of Makin' Steps since he was three years old and loves going to the classes, added: "It was brilliant."

Makin' Steps principal Scott Simpson said: "We are over the moon that Josh was selected out of the hundreds taking part to perform with Diversity. He is a fantastic dancer and really excels in our street dance hip hop classes."

Joshua lives in Waltham Abbey and attends Waltham Holy Cross School.

Ironmen go on 2,200-mile cycle ride round England

Followed by 500-mile run and 50-mile swim to aid charities

William Mata

william.mata@hertssexnews.co.uk

TWO buddies from Harlow have set off on an extreme fundraising challenge that will test their levels of fitness to the limit.

For not only are Jake Kent-Pope and Martyn O'Dell attempting to complete a 2,200-mile cycle ride around England, they are also planning to take part in a 500-mile run across Wales and a 50-mile swim off the Scottish coast – all in the name of charity.

Jake and Martyn, who are both 28, have been friends since they were 13 when they both played rugby in Harlow. They are looking to raise as much as possible for Diabetes UK and Cancer Research UK.

Exhausting

They set off from Harlow on Saturday and are hoping to finish the ride in the town on Friday, August 21.

Speaking on Tuesday, after an exhausting climb across the Yorkshire Moors, Jake said they were enjoying their adventure but finding it tough going.

"Today is the longest leg of the trip," said Jake, who lives in Church Leys, Harlow. "We've done 60 miles but still have nearly 100 to go."

"We split it up into short days and long days – we're doing an easy one through Cumbria in a few days that's only 75 miles."

"It was been particularly tough this morning as we were climbing for 20 miles going north from Whitby up hills of a 16-18 per cent gradient."

Amazingly the lads only planned

their trip in May and so had not been training for long. But as they have taken part in ultra-marathons and ironman triathlons, it did not take them long to reach full fitness.

Jake, a carpenter by profession, said part of the inspiration for the cycle ride came from a speech given by Prime Minister David Cameron about bringing the country together.

"The first three days were lovely," said Jake. "We have discovered how beautiful our country is and no one really appreciates what we have in the UK."

"The [Yorkshire] Moors were stunning and some of the coastal towns we've seen were just gorgeous. We stopped by Hornsey one day to swim in the sea."

The pair are carrying camping equipment with them and are pitching

BORDER PATROL: The route Martyn and Jake are following up on sites most evenings but are grateful to the people who have offered them accommodation for the odd night.

Riding in specially made Round Britain cycling jerseys, Jake and Martyn are taking showers at campsites and washing clothes by hand.

Martyn, who lives in Lewisham, said: "We have no target with the amount we raise, but we're currently up to around £1,000 and we are over the moon."

"We aim to complete the challenge by the end of next year to help these great charities."

The decision to support Cancer Research was a result of family members who contracted the disease, while they were inspired to support Diabetes UK after meeting sufferers.

Family relieved after missing man is found in Jersey

SAFE: James Sullivan

A MISSING man who sparked a 10-day hunt has been found safe and well in Jersey.

Police appealed for help to find 27-year-old James Sullivan after he failed to return to the home he shared with his mother in Riverfield Lane, Sawbridgeworth, on Tuesday, July 28.

Concerns grew for the safety of James, who works at the Sainsbury's store in Harlow and last Wednesday police reported his car had been spotted driving through the Blackwall Tunnel in London on the day he disappeared.

But on Friday his relieved father Tom, who lives in south London, emailed the Star's sister paper, the Herts & Essex Observer, to say he had been found safe and well on the Channel Islands.

His stepmother Paula, who led a social media campaign to find James, said: "Fabulous news from the police. We are overjoyed that our James is safe and well and is in Jersey, he was traced via his bank account."

"The police in Jersey have spoken to him, he is OK but is not coming home just yet."

Positive

She said the family wanted to thank everyone who had helped and offered "words of comfort, advice and love" which she said had helped them stay positive and calm. "Most of all we would like to thank the Herts police for tracking James down for us," she said.

"We would also like to thank the various local newspapers, Bishop's Stortford Running Club and the charity Missing People who have helped too in our search for him."

"We are so very grateful to you all for your support."

"We will sleep well tonight knowing James is alive and safe and very much look forward to seeing him soon."

Town centre is no quick fix

SIR I was delighted to read the report in last week's Star headlined "Let's make the town centre great again". It is always heartening when the community gets behind and fully supports the council's aspirations for a fresh start.

Whilst we have achieved some positive outcomes already, moving the market and removing the planters won't solve everything.

What we need is a frank and open discussion about what we all want from a new town centre. This has to include businesses, owners of buildings, traders and shoppers.

We need to look for new partners and ideas such as the local art community running a Sunday art market and getting local bakeries and sausage makers to hold food markets.

The town centre can't just be about shopping but a mixture of business, shops and housing. The environment should be about leisure and pleasure with better and easier access. We should look at key buildings such as Market House, the former Odeon cinema, Terminus House and the bus station and ask the owners for new ideas.

Instead of giant red pots in the Market Square, why not create a green area with water where people can sit, play and enjoy? Why not design a cultural quarter?

The council under Labour has provided a nest egg of £1m to show our commitment. This is sending a clear message that we want to work with owners, developers and the community for real change.

I'm delighted that other political groups are supporting us and I know our MP is supporting our decision to bring free wifi into the whole of the town centre.

This will be a slow process but working together will make a real difference.

There is no quick fix, but a mutual honest and open discussion between all partners will bring real growth and opportunity for our town centre. Let's avoid the politics and get into partnership.

Cllr Tony Durcan (Labour)
Rundells, Harlow

Eyesore pots a Tory legacy

SIR I laughed out loud when I saw the front page headline on last week's Star ("Let's make town centre great again", August 6). For Harlow's Conservative councillors to have the temerity to say this beggars belief.

It was a Tory-run council that spent £65,000 of local taxpayers money on those grotesque giant red flowerpots that surround the Market Square today.

If that's their idea of how our Market Square should be regenerated, God only knows what they'd do if they ever get control of the council again.

Tory councillor Russell Perrin, who was the council's portfolio holder for regeneration and enterprise back in 2011 when these hideous eyesores were installed, said at the time: "These large planters are a fun and unusual fixture."

No they are not, Mr Perrin. They are a monument to your party's colossal lack of taste and judgement, not to mention fiscal incompetence.

Robert Johnson
Harlow (address supplied)

READER photo of the week

■ It looks like a giant eye gazing down from the heavens. This photo of the phenomenon known as a sun dog – when the sun surrounded by a mysterious halo, was taken in Harlow by Steve Drewett, founding member of punk rock band Newtown Neurotics. He writes: "It is considered to be a good luck sign and I take it to mean that the new Newtown Neurotics' live album Triumph Over Adversity, which has just been released, is going to do really well!"

■ If you have a photo you would like featured, email a high resolution copy, along with a description and details of where and when it was taken, to star@hertssexnews.co.uk. Please remember to include your name and address and insert 'Photo of the Week' in the subject line.

More traffic on the way

SIR With regards to the proposed road improvements along the A414 in Harlow (Star, July 30), county councillor Rodney Bass said: "It is vital we do everything we can to ease congestion, keep this important artery open and to encourage growth and prosperity."

Personally I consider it vital to tell the truth and give as much information upfront so that we can make a more informed judgement.

In the bigger scheme of Harlow's future it is worth mentioning that, because of our council's desire to build some 20,000 new homes by 2036, there must be access routes to serve these proposed development sites. The creation of the Harlow Enterprise Zone also requires access.

Cue the new M11 junction 7a to be sited on Gilden Way. Essex County Council has by its own admission agreed that traffic levels along the A414 will increase by 50-100 per cent as a result of creating junction 7a. It further admits that as a result of a new junction traffic on most routes through Harlow will almost double.

No amount of road junction improvements or traffic lights will possibly cope with the flood of vehicles that will swamp Harlow. As for Gilden Way itself, the county council has confirmed that traffic levels will increase more than three-fold.

At what point exactly do we ease traffic congestion and has Cllr Bass at any time been in touch with reality?

Allan White
Back Lane, Sheering

Don't rule out other options

SIR It may be that some Harlow residents and businesses might agree a new M11 junction is needed. What is not agreed, however, is the correct site for the new junction.

I would like to draw your readers' attention to the following facts taken from Essex County Council's website.

- 1) The way forward. Medium term (five-10 years), a new junction (7a) linking to Gilden Way. Long term (15+ years), a new dual carriageway from junction 7a to the existing dual carriageway at Eastwick.
- 2) Gilden Way. Due to already committed developments in Harlow, in the future there is likely to be much more traffic in Gilden Way. With junction 7a in place, traffic levels will increase further.

I have two questions. Firstly, why do we need the Gilden Way option if within a few years a new northern dual carriageway is planned? The northern option would prevent excess traffic from being directed to the centre of Harlow.

Secondly, why Gilden Way when it is going to substantially increase traffic flow into Harlow, causing severe gridlock and confusion to through traffic?

I would seriously suggest that the Gilden Way option is not going to reduce congestion and is not going to make Harlow an attractive place to live or work.

Is the county council going to consider other more viable options?

Jerry Crawford
Coalport Close, Harlow

Threat to bee population

SIR Surely the role of the Secretary of State for the Environment Liz Truss is to protect our environment.

Instead, she has allowed bee-killing pesticides back on to our fields, ignored scientists, cut renewable energy subsidies and made many more damaging decisions in favour of corporate profit.

Hundreds of thousands of people who care for our world have signed a petition.

Our MP needs to put pressure on the Prime Minister to reverse the decision or our already failing bee population on which we rely to pollinate our crops will suffer perhaps their final major blow.

Gilbert Brown
Knight Street, Sawbridgeworth

Problem with bus service

SIR Am I the only one who has experienced problems with the Sunday bus services run by Regal Buses?

I've lost count of the times when, travelling from Staple Tye to Old Harlow on the number 12 service, the driver has terminated the journey at the town centre so he could take his break even though there is no relief driver or bus to take over.

You are then left with a wait of an hour for the next bus so you can carry on to Old Harlow or the same to get back if you have the misfortune to be already stranded there.

Does this happen on their other Sunday services and should we not expect better from a service that I believe is subsidised by Essex County Council?

In brief

Driver arrested after fatal crash has bail extended

ROYDON: A motorist who was arrested on suspicion of causing death by dangerous driving following an accident in the early hours of Christmas Eve in which a motorcyclist was killed has had her bail extended.

Jon Aicken, 24, who lived in Harlow and was known to his friends as 'Panda', died after he was involved in a collision with a car in Tyllers Road, Roydon, at about 4am on December 24 last year.

A 25-year-old woman was arrested after voluntarily visiting a police station the following day and later released on bail. On Monday she was rebailed until December 2.

Town teens at conference

ESSEX: Members of Harlow and Epping youth councils joined teenagers from across the county at a youth conference hosted by the Police and Crime Commissioner for Essex.

The conference, which was held at Chelmsford City Football Club, discussed various topics including hate crime, cyber bullying, interaction between young people and police, online grooming and consent in personal relationships.

The conference was held to give young people the chance to air their views and allow them to work with police and partner organisations to find solutions and improve awareness and education in these areas.

Correction

HARLOW: A report in last week's Star about a charity ball held at Blake Hall, Ongar, by the family and friends of five-year-old Harry Patch in aid of Great Ormond Street Hospital incorrectly stated it raised the sum of £14,000 instead of £1,400. Keenan McNally was also described as the sister of Harry's mum Colleen instead of her brother. We apologise for these errors.

Keep fit for free at park's outdoor gym

Bid to boost the health and wellbeing of residents

Gemma Gardner

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

RESIDENTS are being given the chance to boost their fitness levels and live a healthier lifestyle with the official launch of an outdoor gym and free workout sessions in Harlow Town Park.

The gym, which has already proved popular since it was opened in April, features eight pieces of equipment designed to give users a full body workout.

It includes a set of triple pull-up bars, a sit-up bench, a step box multi-gym, a chest press/pull down, a swingalong, a set of hurdles, a set of parallel bars and a balance beam. Four additional pieces of equipment – a bicycle, hand cycle, recumbent cycle and a strength wheel – are due to be installed in the near future.

Free Fitpark classes, which are run by Harlow-based Stanley4Fitness, are held at the gym on Saturdays from 8-8.45am, with women-only sessions taking place on Wednesdays from 9.30-10.15am.

Among those at Saturday's launch were Derek Fenny and Carol Sizeland from Harlow Health Centres Trust, which provided the funding for both the gym and the fitness classes.

"The trust is more than willing to support these projects as part of its health and wellbeing strategy which is there to help organisations improve the health and wellbeing of Harlow residents," said Mr Fenny.

FIT FOR PURPOSE: The official launch of the outdoor gym in Harlow Town Park

Cllr Emma Toal, Harlow Council's portfolio holder for youth & community, added: "We are committed to doing what we can by working with other organisations to help improve people's health and wellbeing at little or no cost."

"Since it opened in April the outdoor gym has proved to be a very popular facility. We want to encourage even more people to take advantage of it and hope that the free Fitpark sessions will help people build up their fitness and give them confidence to exercise, so that they get the most out of the free gym facility."

The gym is has been built opposite the top of the old pitch and putt course and next to the footbridge which goes over the hill from the Greyhound pub.

The Fitpark sessions cover all levels of fitness, with scaling options to ensure those taking part get the right level of workout.

To book a place visit <http://book.stanley4fitness.com> and choose FitPark Session to complete the registration process. Participants will receive an email confirming what they need to take and what they can expect.

■ Harlow Council has also launched a free, fortnightly health walks programme in the Town Park. Details can be found at www.harlow.gov.uk/events.

Splash pool closed over weekend after boy breaks his leg

AN investigation was launched after a young boy broke his leg after slipping at one of Harlow's public paddling pools.

The Potter Street Splash Park was closed over the weekend following the accident on Friday afternoon. It reopened on Tuesday.

A spokesman for Harlow Council said the decision to shut the pool was taken as a precaution while a full investigation in the incident and an inspection of the site was undertaken.

The Essex air ambulance was sent to the scene (pictured top) but it understood the boy was taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital by road ambulance.

Councillor Emma Toal, Harlow Council's portfolio holder for youth & community, said: "The health and safety of residents is our immediate priority so we closed the park on Friday while we carried out an investigation and inspection of the facility."

"This has now been completed and there were no faults found or follow up actions required. As the facility had not been in operation for a few days the tank in the pump room was drained and the system re-chlorinated before it reopened."

She added: "The paddling pools and splash park are popular with families and the thousands of children who use them during the summer holidays. This incident was an unfortunate accident and we wish the child a full and speedy recovery."

Boost for jobs as food chain opens in shopping centre

FIFTEEN new jobs have been created with the opening of a new branch of the sandwich chain Subway in Harlow town centre.

The shop, which is located on the first floor of the Harvey Centre, opened its doors for the first time last Wednesday.

It is the second Subway franchise in Harlow and has been opened as part of the shopping centre's on-going investment in regeneration and transformation.

These include a £9m leisure development called The Terrace which is due to open next year and which will house a six-screen cinema and up to five restaurants.

Harvey Centre manager Bryan Young said: "We're delighted that Subway has chosen the centre for its second store in Harlow. It not only shows the commitment that companies have in the town but proves that the Harvey Centre is an exciting investment opportunity providing a variety of shops for its visitors."

Bag yourself a holiday in luggage tag treasure hunt

SHOPPERS visiting the Harvey Centre in Harlow during August could win themselves hundreds of pounds worth of holiday vouchers.

Secret luggage tags have been hidden in a number of stores around the centre and anyone finding one will win £500 worth of vouchers from holiday company Thomas Cook.

Visitors who spot one of the tags simply need to fill in their details on the tag and hand it into a member of staff.

One voucher will be hidden every week for four weeks.

First look inside town's new council-built homes

Families expected to move in during the autumn

Gemma Gardner

THE finishing touches are being put to the first batch of council houses to be built in Harlow for 25 years – and the Star has been given a sneak preview of what they look like inside.

The 18 two-bedroom homes have been constructed on former garage sites at Fesants Croft, Felmongers and The Hill.

During the next few weeks work will be carried out on completing pavements and parking areas.

The properties have still to be connected to electricity, water and gas supplies before they are handed over to Harlow Council for final checks.

They will then be added to the council's housing stock of around 9,700 properties and allocated to local families on the Housing Needs Register. The first tenants are expected to be handed the keys of their new homes in the autumn.

"Building council houses shows residents this council is serious about honouring its commitments to provide more and better housing and regenerate the town," said council leader Jon Clempner.

On Friday a Star photographer accompanied Cllr Clempner and Cllr Tony Durcan, portfolio holder for regeneration and enterprise, when they visited the new homes in Fesants Croft and helped with the finishing touches by fixing numbers to the front doors.

"The council has worked hard to deliver this programme when finances are tight and the demand for housing increases," said Cllr Clempner. "These new homes will change the lives of local families."

"These will be new homes for Harlow people, allocated to local families in housing need who have a connection to Harlow."

Cllr Durcan added: "Just over eight months ago this former garage site was just mud. Now seven new family homes proudly sit here."

"I am delighted to have seen the progress which has been made and once they are ready for families to move in it will be a very special moment for social housing in Harlow."

"Our housebuilding programme will provide new high quality homes and also regenerate disused or under used garage sites making a positive, visible difference to Harlow."

Building work on the homes started in December 2014. The new estates and homes are part of a £2.7m programme designed by local architects and built by Borrás Construction.

The last council homes built in Harlow were in the late 1980s.

Workmates climb the Three Peaks for two charities

A TEAM of workmates from the Harlow-based head office of mechanical engineering firm Leitz Tooling raised more than £5,000 for charity when they successfully completed the Three Peaks Challenge.

The team of Brian Maddox, Tony Kumm and Dave McCann supported by Dave Jepson and UK managing director Simon Liddell made their way to Fort William in Scotland for the start of the 24-hour challenge to climb the three highest peaks in Scotland, England and Wales - Ben Nevis, Scafell Pike and Snowdon.

As a result of their efforts they were able to donate £2,000 to Action Medical Research, which is dedicated to improving the health of babies and children through research, and £3,000 to Haven House Children's Hospice.

Sales manager Mr Maddox said: "It was a very tough challenge, the training alone was ridiculous. On the day, Ben Nevis was by far the hardest with high winds, snow and torrential rain making the climb very difficult."

Mr Kumm added: "The actual climb was physically and mentally draining but that was nothing compared to what the children and families that these charities work with go through on a daily basis, and it's our privilege to help."

In support of the team the company, which is based at Pinnacles, ran a prize draw with all proceeds going to the two charities.

Walkers help to keep air ambulances saving lives

Sponsored hike boosts helicopter charity's coffers to the tune of £5,000

Joe Sturdy

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A GROUP of fundraisers who set off on a three-day sponsored walk from North Weald Airfield have collected thousands of pounds for the Essex and Herts Air Ambulance Trust.

It would have taken just 15 minutes to fly the 50-mile route for the airfield, which is where the air ambulances are based to its second HQ at Earls Colne.

But the 11 Base 2 Base walkers decided to complete the journey on foot and in so doing raised more than £5,000 which will go towards the £480,000 monthly cost of keeping the lifesaving helicopters flying.

Equipment

The fundraisers were helped by an army of organisations who helped pay the cost of camping equipment and locate suitable areas for overnight stops.

The route took them along Essex Way for most of its length. The walk was open to individual walkers, families, groups of friends and corporate teams. Each paid a registration fee and signed up to raise a minimum of £350 in sponsorship.

UP FOR A CHALLENGE: Left, The Base 2 Base walkers prepare to set off from the air ambulance base at North Weald and, above, the team reach the finishing line at Earls Colne three days later

One of those taking part was Cherry McKean, who said: "The months of hard work leading up to the three-day challenge were definitely worth it."

"It was good to spend time with such a nice bunch of like-minded people, all determined to complete the challenge for such a worthy cause."

"The support we received throughout the event was first class and the highlight must have been our fly-by from the Essex Air Ambulance on the second day, reminding us just why we were putting ourselves through this."

Rebecca Rose completed the challenge with a friend in memory of her daughter's fiancée who was attended to by the air ambulance crew.

"It was an amazing experience with great company, some who have become good friends," she said.

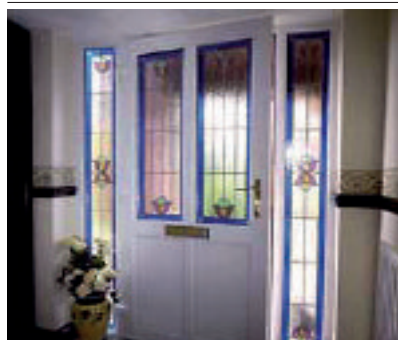

The two air ambulances have flown over 10,000 missions in the past 12 years.

Wendy Marcon-Knightley, the Essex and Herts Air Ambulance Trust's sponsorship and events manager, said: "This is an amazing achievement by a great team of walkers who really persevered to achieve their goal. It's a journey that takes 15 minutes in our helicopter but it's a gruelling three-day walk on foot."

"They were a fantastic group of people to spend the challenge with, all supporting each other."

"Everyone should feel really proud they completed a really challenging walk and have raised vital funds to keep both air ambulances flying."

Wembley treat for soccer kids

Restaurant boss gifts tickets to youth team

Ken Morley

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

MEMBERS of a youth football team in Harlow travelled to Wembley Stadium to watch the FA Community Shield after being given tickets for the match by game sponsors McDonald's.

Tony Fagg, franchise holder for local McDonald's restaurants, donated the tickets to Langley Colts, the team he has supported for the past eight years as part of the company's club twinning programme.

The youngsters joined the crowd for the season opener which saw FA Cup holders Arsenal beat Premier League champions Chelsea 1-0.

Langley Colts chairman Mark Walker said "It was an incredible experience to be able to watch such a fantastic game, especially at the home of English football.

"The kids enjoyed every minute of it and I am sure they will be talking about it for months to come. Opportunities like this wouldn't arise without the club's relationship with McDonald's and we are extremely grateful for the ongoing support that we receive from Tony.

"We look forward to continuing to work with him in the future to ensure we continue to offer the best possible football experience for our local community."

HERE WE GO: Players and officials from Langley Colts with the tickets which were donated to the team by McDonald's franchise holder Tony Fagg

Mr Fagg added: "I have supported Langley Colts for a number of years now and this is a nice reward for all of the fantastic work they do for our local community.

"This was an experience I knew they would all love as passionate football fans and I am glad they all had a brilliant time."

More than 1,000 clubs across the country have been twinned with McDonald's restaurants since the programme was started in 2008 as part of the company's community partnership with the Football Association to raise standards of the game at youth level.

The clubs receive support through the provision of kit and equipment, business advice and assistance with hosting community football events.

McDonald's has been a community partner of the FA for 13 years.

Learning to celebrate differences

CHILDREN celebrated differences in race, culture and religion as part of a diversity week at Freshwaters Primary Academy at Harlow.

Each class at the School Lane primary mapped out their family trees to demonstrate that no two ancestries were quite the same. They are learned through a fashion and cookery seminar how Britain has been influenced by international countries.

Head Marios Solomonides said: "It is especially important in today's political climate to give children opportunities to identify the similarities and differences between them."

Year 6 students dealt with the more challenging topic of stereotypes and discrimination, which Mr Solomonides said was important. "No child is born racist or judgemental in any way," he added. "Society changes some people and it's our job, along with our families, to make sure our pupils grow up to be not just tolerant of others, but to actively celebrate them."

Chinese teachers get VIP welcome

Academy hosts six tutors from Orient

Gemma Gardner

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A GROUP of six teachers from China were given lessons in the day-to-day routine of a British classroom when they got a taste of the UK education system during a fact-finding trip to Harlow.

The trainee teachers, from Suzhou in the Jiangsu province of China, spent three weeks at Burnt Mill Academy, in First Avenue, experiencing every aspect of school life there.

Training

They spent time with each faculty and completed training sessions before teaching for three days. Burnt Mill assistant head teacher Pat Walker said: "This is a programme we get involved with every year as it gives our children the opportunity to experience another culture and to learn about the Chinese way of life.

"It also supports our mission of going from outstanding to world class in that it promotes a different area of the world our children might not normally experience."

Summer sounds are a monster hit at High Wych primary CHILDREN at High Wych Primary School celebrated the end of the summer term by putting on a concert.

Music is an important part of the curriculum at the High Wych Road school.

Pupils in Year 4 and Year 5 have weekly lessons in half classes to learn to play stringed instruments as part of an orchestra supported by Herts Music Service.

Year 3s also learn to play the recorder in small groups using musical notation.

The children also have an opportunity to play percussion instruments as well as developing their singing voices and composing skills.

At present youngsters can learn to play the recorder, keyboard, clarinet, cello, accordion, brass, guitar and violin.

The school orchestra plays each Wednesday morning from 8am during term time.

Head teacher Mandy West said: "The Year 3s and 4s' production of The Rocky Monster Show was a fabulous performance."

"The children sang and acted brilliantly. Well done to all the staff and children and thanks to the parents for supporting them."

Football fundraiser is a way to say thanks

THE intensive care unit at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital was the real winner after a football match raised almost £700.

The game, which was played at the Fairways ground in Parsloe Road, Harlow, on Saturday, was a way of saying thank you for the care and treatment received by Stephen Wadhams, who spent several weeks in the unit with a serious illness.

The game itself finished in a 3-1 win for the green team over the blues and Mr Wadhams' wife Kathy said she was delighted with how successfully it went.

Mrs Wadhams, who works as a nurse, said: "It was a fun day out to raise money and while I'm sure the lads would have better things to do it was nice they came along to support the event."

"Everyone who came paid £5 and we all enjoyed it so much. It was quite humbling."

Mr Wadhams, 57, who is almost fully recovered from his illness, was able to enjoy the game after kicking off proceedings. The couple's three sons played in the game.

Mrs Wadhams said her husband's remarkable return to health was down to the "fine work" of staff in the intensive care unit.

She is now planning to meet hospital chiefs to arrange for the money to be presented.

She thanked Martin Hayter for his efforts in helping to organise the game and Rob Eubel for volunteering to referee.

Woman who hit a paramedic in face avoids jail

Mum-of-two lashed out in back of ambulance

Court reporter

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A WOMAN who lashed out at a paramedic, severing a nerve in her cheek and leaving her unable to smile fully, has been spared a jail sentence.

Chelmsford Crown Court was told that Alexandra Gardner, 34, of Tithefields, Harlow, was in severe pain at the time she elbowed Casey Holding in both her chest and face while in the back of an ambulance.

The court heard that Ms Holding suffered a permanent severed nerve in her left cheek, which is still completely numb a year later and which has left her unable to smile fully.

In a victim impact statement, Ms Holding said she gets stressed and anxious when she looks in the mirror, she gets flashbacks and no longer wants her photograph taken because of how she looks.

Gardner, a mother-of-two, pleaded guilty to assault causing actual bodily harm on May 26 last year. She was given a 12-month community order with 160 hours of unpaid work and ordered to pay £250 costs.

The court heard that a former partner of the defendant was one of the paramedics who attended the callout to her home which added to the stress of what she was experiencing.

Prosecutor Donal Lawler said at the time of the incident Gardner was in a lot of pain and was "drifting in and out of reality".

She was taken to the ambulance but continued to struggle, elbowing Ms Holding first in the chest and then in the cheek.

Colin Aylett, representing Gardner, said in mitigation she had become seriously ill and was suffering extreme pain in her back and abdomen as a result of which her partner called an ambulance. She had been taking very strong painkillers and had had also drunk some beer.

"She didn't deliberately strike out with any intention of causing harm," he said.

But passing sentence, judge Anthony Goldstaub said Gardner was reckless in the way she thrashed about due to the severe pain she was suffering, coupled with prescribed medication and alcohol.

He said that worse than the post-traumatic stress disorder experienced by Ms Holding was the effect of the "significant" injury on her appearance. He told Gardner: "She was there to help you and she was working in the public sector which I have to take into account."

Man admits murdering former PAH nurse

VICTIM: Karen Buckley

THE killer of former Harlow hospital nurse Karen Buckley is facing a mandatory life sentence after he pleaded guilty on Tuesday to murder.

Alexander Pacteau, 21, killed 24-year-old Miss Buckley in a savage attack in Glasgow within an hour of meeting her at a nightclub.

Miss Buckley, who was born in Ireland, worked at Princess Alexandra Hospital before leaving to study for a post-graduate qualification at Glasgow Caledonian University.

The High Court in Glasgow was told Pacteau launched a savage attack on her in his car, repeatedly hitting her on the head with a spanner and compressing her neck.

Her friends and family launched a four-day search to find her after she was reported missing.

The court was told that Pacteau had planned to dissolve her body in acid but it was later found by police inside a blue plastic barrel at a farm where he had previously rented a storage unit.

Judge Lady Rae described Pacteau as "callous and calculating", adding: "This is a shocking and disturbing case. You killed a young woman who was a stranger to you. It was a motiveless, senseless and brutal attack on her."

Pacteau will be sentenced when he returns to court on September 8.

Speaking after the hearing, Miss Buckley's father John said: "All Karen was doing was making her way home when she was randomly targeted and murdered by a cowardly vicious criminal."

"No words of ours can do justice to our feelings towards him. He is evil and we hope he will spend the rest of his life behind bars."

£15,000 raised in memory of air crash pilot

Donations will help to support young family

Simon Murfitt

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

NEARLY £15,000 has been raised in memory of the pilot who died when his plane crashed during an air display at a festival in Cheshire.

Kevin Whyman, who was one of the founders of Gnat Display Team at North Weald Airfield, was killed in the accident at Radio 2 DJ Chris Evans' CarFest North charity event at Oulton Park.

He leaves behind his pregnant wife Alexandra and their 18-month-old daughter.

Since the tragedy, friends of the 35-year-old, who was known as The Jester, have been inundated with messages of sympathy and people wanting to give money to support his family.

So far more than £14,000 had been donated into an account set up to help Mr Whyman's family and a further £420 has been donated on a separate fundraising page for his preferred charity, Help for Heroes.

A statement on the fundraising page reads: "As friends of Kevin Whyman we would like to express our gratitude to all the people who have sent messages of support at this most difficult time.

"Kevin's wife is four months pregnant and his daughter is only 18 months old, which adds to the tragedy of this terrible situation. Kevin was a wonderful and loving father and would have relished being a dad to two girls.

"All that is left to say is thank you once more for all the messages of support. Each and every one means so much to all the family and friends of our much loved Kevin."

RAF-trained Mr Whyman, who was originally from Chester, was sponsored through sixth form college by the Royal Navy before completing a flying scholarship with the RAF. He read economics at Cambridge University and after graduating in 1998

he joined the RAF, before leaving to work for investment banks in London in 2001.

Flights at North Weald Airfield were flown at half mast in the days following the crash. A statement from the Gnat Display Team said: "Kevin was a Royal Air Force trained fast jet pilot whose enthusiasm for flying the Folland Gnat was infectious. He will be greatly missed by his family, the team and many friends."

An investigation into the cause of the crash is being carried out by the Civil Aviation Authority and the Air Accidents Investigation Board.

Dad's 14-challenge quest in aid of hospice

A SALES manager who set about transforming his health after hitting a mid-life slump is well on his way to completing 14 fundraising challenges in aid of St Clare Hospice.

Father-of-two Richard Funnell will embark upon the gruelling London to Cambridge 100km Ultra Challenge later this month having already completed 10 other challenges in his bid to raise £2,000 to support the work of the Hastingwood hospice.

Richard, 57, was inspired to begin his health and fitness kick after tipping the scales at 18 stone.

"Being overweight didn't come as any great surprise," he said. "I didn't have a suit that fitted, a pair of trousers that weren't tight and even my best friend had my number saved in his mobile phone under 'fatty'."

"It was clear I had to make some serious changes and I needed to do something I could focus on which would be motivational and life-changing. Taking a good hard look in the mirror it dawned that I was a prime candidate for hospital. The wake-up call had arrived."

After signing up for organised fitness sessions, Richard decided to add more purpose and dimension to his training.

"Two years ago my wife was the victim of breast cancer and although it was caught very early and she remains in full remission, it was and remains a life-changing experience for her, our family and friends," he said. "Through our own personal experience with cancer we knew a lot of money quite rightly goes into funding research. However, we knew nothing about what happens when the second and third chance runs out so we started looking into hospice care and discovered it helps people to live as actively as possible from the point at which their illness is diagnosed as incurable to the end of their lives, however long that may be.

"It was at this point I discovered St Clare and when I asked around I was amazed at how many people we knew who had been touched, either personally or remotely, by this fantastic organisation. I now had my purpose."

Since starting on his 14-challenge quest Richard, who lives in Bishop's Stortford, has completed the St Clare Hospice 10km run, Trekfest: The Beacons, Nuclear Fall Out and the Hatfield Broad Oak 10km run.

To sponsor Richard and help him reach his £2,000 fundraising target, visit www.justgiving.com/RICHARD-FUNNELL3/.

Family strike gold in seabed treasure hunt

A FAMILY of treasure hunters got more than they bargained for when they went diving in shallow waters off the Florida coast.

For while they were searching the seabed with metal detectors they discovered a haul of buried treasure in the wreck of a ship that sank almost 300 years ago.

The Schmitt family – dad Rick, mum Lisa and children Eric and Hillary – have been searching for treasure for the past 20 years. Last month they struck gold when they found 52 coins including one which is thought to have been made for King Phillip V of Spain who ruled that country from 1700 to 1724.

Experts say the treasure is worth more than £600,000, with the Royal coin alone thought to be worth about £300,000.

It has been confirmed the treasure was being carried on board a ship that sank in 1715 during a hurricane, which killed the entire crew.

"I did my first performance in Harlow on September 24, 1980, and it was in fact my second-ever performance as Attila the Stockbroker," he says.

"It was a rally against Thatcher and I remember the Unborn Dead and Condemned were also playing.

"I'm from Brighton but have huge links to Harlow. The Square is the only place for people of alternative culture to go [in the town] where it's nice and friendly. It is safe for people who live their lives differently; everyone feels welcome."

Since that performance in 1980, Attila has gone on to play more than 3,000 gigs in 24 countries and become one of the defining voices of the punk era alongside John Cooper Clarke, Patti Smith and Jim Carroll.

Arguments Yard picks up on some of the most bizarre and hilarious moments he has experienced, such as standing in for Donny Osmond at a gig, being supported by the Manic Street

Preachers and turning down an offer to perform in North Korea.

"I always knew I wanted to do it," he explains of his decision to release his memoirs. "I have had a wonderful life travelling all over the world. I have played in Australia, New Zealand and six times in the former East Germany before the wall came down.

"I actually started writing it 10 years ago, but my mother contracted Alzheimer's and I spent six years looking after her with my wife. I came back to it in 2010 and almost got it finished last year, but I thought it would be nice to time the release with my 35th anniversary of performing.

"The book is largely chronological but not entirely and contains poems and songs included within the text.

"It is a life story of a man involved in social and political change."

Not surprisingly, Harlow plays a prominent part in the book as Attila has always found a home at The Square, where he will perform on Friday, September 11, possibly for the last time.

His performance will be supported by The Piranhas and Newtown Neurotics singer Steve Drewett as part of the Back to Square One series of shows that celebrate the legacy of the venue which is set to close at the end of the year.

Attila, who recently nipped back to The Square to film a BBC 4 documentary about punk poetry, feels angry at the closure. "It is a haven of alternative culture and it would be such a shame if it did close, but the county council have no interest in The Square and chose to put the money to a housing development and local schools," he says.

"Under the plans we might well get 20 homes there, but compared to the numbers of people that come through the doors of the venue that is nothing. People who use the venue will have nowhere to go when it shuts."

He adds that he would head-up a campaign to save the venue himself if he wasn't based near the South Coast. His knowledge of planning law comes from his experience of successfully being able to re-locate his beloved Brighton and Hove Albion FC.

While his autobiography is a reflection of a life on stage, it is far from the end for Attila, who is as politically charged as ever and is currently putting his efforts into helping to elect Jeremy Corbyn as the leader of the Labour Party.

His recent song Farageland also expressed his contempt at the right wing policies he has campaigned against ever since he first became involved in punk as a 19-year-old at the University of Kent.

"I write poetry for people that don't like poetry," he says. "Pre-sales of the book begin in a week's time. The book will be available through my own website and gigs and after being published through Cherry Red, it will be available in book shops.

"It will be readily available but if you come to one of my gigs I will sign it for you."

■ The Harlow gig is the second date on a UK tour that will conclude in mid-December. Tickets cost £6 and are on sale now from www.thesquareharlow.com/listings. For more information visit: www.attilastockbroker.com.

Learn movie secrets

A BRAND new family production that takes audiences behind the scenes of their favourite movies explodes onto the Harlow Playhouse stage.

Join a team of professionals who've been behind the special effects on a dozens of productions including Game of Thrones, Guardians of the Galaxy, The Dark Knight Rises and Phantom of the Opera.

They'll be exposing the trade secrets to creating movie magic and giving a revealing insight into some of the most spectacular scenes in Hollywood.

On stage will be special FX make-up artist David Brown, who made the switch to make-up after spending several years working in costume departments.

"I had got to a point where I wanted a change. I was watching the special features of a movie and there was a section on make-up. I thought it looked interesting, so I looked into courses," explains David.

"I began by taking Stuart Bray's three-day prosthetic course and then a two-week summer school in Glasgow. That built up a few pieces in my portfolio and the rest was luck and hard work."

For families and movie buffs alike, audiences will feel the heat from spectacular explosions, get up close with gruesome sci-fi monsters, be blown away by apocalyptic weather and possibly star in their own high-octane stunt sequence.

So how long does it take to apply make-up on the day of a shoot?

David says: "Time is always an issue on set as every minute costs a lot of money, usually as a makeup artist who is applying you are given a time to complete the makeup, sometimes on smaller movies you are asked how long it will take.

"A small and very simple piece can be applied and painted in five-10 minutes but the longer the better so you have more time to work on it. Full character makeups can take up to six hours to apply, the start time for these makeups will be early morning 1am or 2am to get ready to begin filming around 8am-7pm and then an hour or so to remove the makeup."

He explained that there is also months of preparation before the shoot even begins.

"As designer there is the job of script analysis and a lot of paper work to get the ground work done. Meetings with the creative team of the movie will refine the designs and ideas to within the concept that the director envisions," says David.

"Then it is into the workshop to take lifecasts of the actors, sculpting the creatures, aliens, ageing onto the lifecast. Moulding all of this in fibre glass and after some hefty cleaning of the moulds injecting it with silicone.

"Sometimes all this prep is done a few months before filming begins so that a stock of prosthetics can be built and then whilst filming is happening more pieces are being made and painted ready for application at a later date."

So what does it take to get into the industry? David says determination is the key.

"Personally I think there is no true way into the film industry, hard work and determination are your biggest assets. There are colleges which teach makeup to a high standard, research them and see if any of them are for you.

"If you are looking to get into special effects makeup specifically I would recommend taking some short courses (such as Stuart Bray's) which will give you immediate practical skills and some experience and understanding of the processes involved in creating and applying makeup.

"Practice and build a small portfolio so that you have something to show, then contact workshops and designers offering yourself as work experience and if you're alert, curious and respectful you will learn a ton of skills, tips and tricks from the people you meet.

"It can take years to build up a momentum in the industry so it is something that you need to have a passion for. If you have that, go get it"

Billed as a "dangerously exciting theatrical experience like no other", the Hollywood Special Effects Show is definitely worth a watch.

Tickets for the show on Thursday, November 5 cost between £14.50 and £16.50. The show starts at 7.30pm and tickets are available from the box office on (01279) 431945.

PIXELS

GENRE: Sci-Fi/Fantasy/Comedy/Action/Romance
STARRING: Adam Sandler, Kevin James, Josh Gad, Peter Dinklage, Michelle Monaghan, Brian Cox, Sean Bean, Anthony Ippolito, Jared Riley, Jacob Shinder, Andrew Bambridge.
DIRECTOR: Chris Columbus.

IKE many socially awkward boys of my generation, I escaped reality by playing fiendishly addictive games on consoles and computers, including an Atari, Vic 20 and Commodore 64.

Asteroids, Battlezone, Centipede, Pacman, Phoenix, Space Invaders and Track & Field were trusted friends.

Pixels is an action comedy, which harks back to this bygone era before smartphones and immersive 4D, when guiding a circular yellow head around a maze with four coloured ghosts in hot pursuit, was the height of hi-tech entertainment.

Based on a short film of the same title by Patrick Jean, Chris Columbus' big budget romp imagines life-size arcade games on the streets of bustling modern cities.

Except here, losing a life could mean the end of planet Earth.

Scriptwriters Tim Herlihy and Timothy Dowling fail to capitalise on this neat and tantalising premise, crafting an inane story of triumph against adversity that treats female characters as pretty baubles.

In 1982, prepubescent pals Sam Brenner (Anthony Ippolito) and Will Cooper (Jared Riley) attend the arcade game world championships where they befriend conspiracy theory-spouting oddball Ludlow Lamonsoff (Jacob Shinder).

Sam gets through to the final where he loses a showdown on Donkey Kong, against egotistical champion Eddie Plant (Andrew Bambridge).

More than 30 years later, Sam (now played by Adam Sandler) installs software for a living, while Will (now played by Kevin James) has become the deeply unpopular President of the United States.

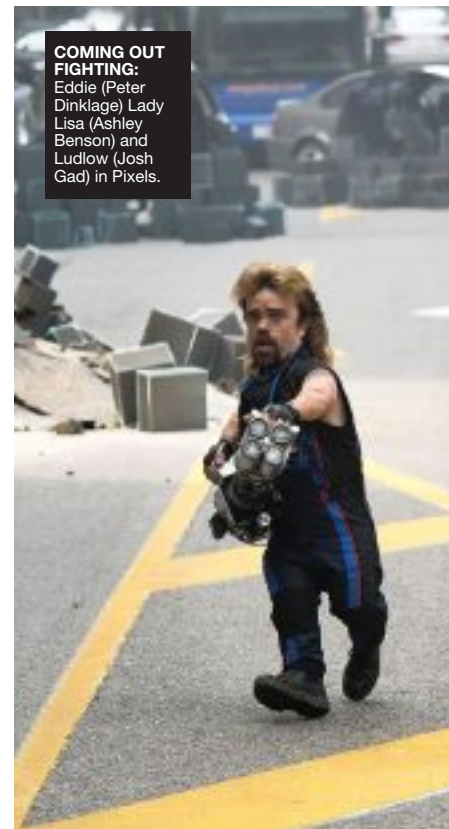

Alien invaders attack Guam military base with energy that has been coded to swarm like the creatures in the arcade game Galaga.

It transpires that a time capsule of arcade game footage, sent into space by NASA in 1982, has been intercepted by extra-terrestrials and misinterpreted as a declaration of war.

In order to halt the alien advance, mankind must compete in life-or-death versions of Centipede and Pacman.

Sam and Will reunite with Ludlow (now played by Josh Gad) and Eddie (now played by Peter Dinklage) to secure mankind's victory, armed with light cannons fashioned by military weapons specialist Lieutenant Colonel Violet van Patten (Michelle Monaghan).

"Let the nerds take over!" she bellows defiantly. Please don't.

Pixels is a nostalgia-drenched bore, hung on the centerpiece recreations of classic games, which result in the destruction of swathes of London and Manhattan.

TRAINWRECK

GENRE: Comedy/drama/romance
STARRING: Amy Schumer, Bill Hader, Tilda Swinton, Vanessa Bayer, John Cena, Brie Larson, LeBron James.

AWARD-winning actress and writer Amy Schumer raises her skirt to political correctness and gleefully flashes sexual inequality with this potty-mouthed comedy that is far from the debacle promised by the title.

Directed at a lick by Judd Apatow, who temporarily lost his mojo after Knocked Up in 2007, Trainwreck is a hilarious and heart-warming portrait of modern womanhood.

Throughout the uproarious two hours, Schumer is the butt of her own expertly targeted jokes, and she generously Columbus, who directed the first two installments of the Harry Potter films, fails miserably to conjure the same magic.

He gleefully fills the screen with familiar pixelated characters including Q*bert, Frogger and Mario.

Regrettably, it's game over from the opening frames for genuine emotion and narrative sophistication.

sassy stand for sexual equality shares sparkling one-liners around the excellent ensemble cast.

In particular, she creates a hysterical supporting role for Oscar-winning British actress Tilda Swinton, as a monstrous magazine editor, who demands gung-ho headline-grabbing titillation, not gently-worded, sentimental froth.

There's a thin glaze of sweetness to pivotal moments between female characters in Schumer's script and an emotionally raw scene at a funeral deftly tugs the heartstrings.

Yet, for its adherence to rom-com tropes, Trainwreck is laced with sufficient biting wit and self-effacement to drink The Hangover and its crude imitators under the table, and seal victory with a rousing belch.

At nine-years-old, Amy Townsend (Amy Schumer) learns a most valuable lesson about human relationships from her embittered father (Colin Quinn).

"Monogamy isn't realistic," he tells Amy and her little sister Kim, encouraging the girls to chant this as a mantra.

Twenty-three years later, Amy has taken those words to her booze-soaked heart, enjoying anonymous sexual encounters, while dating a musclebound hunk called Steven (John Cena), whose prowess leaves a lot to be desired.

In stark contrast, sister Kim (Brie Larson) has settled down with her knitwear-clad husband Tom (Mike Birbiglia).

"You dress him like that just so no one else wants to have sex with him?" quips Amy, mocking her sibling's domestic bliss.

When Amy isn't picking up men in bars, she works at lifestyle magazine S'Nuff with kooky best friend Nikki (Vanessa Bayer).

Out of the blue, editor Dianna (Tilda Swinton) assigns Amy to pen a profile on sports doctor Aaron Connors (Bill Hader), who is good friends with basketball player LeBron James (playing himself).

Amy knows almost nothing about sport, but she obliges and sparks an unlikely romance with the kind-hearted medic that threatens to unravel the tattered fabric of her bed-hopping existence.

Trainwreck is a wicked delight that asserts independent, single women have the same right as men to enjoy carefree sexual escapades without being labeled a hussy.

Jump on board Schumer's runaway, filthy-minded train of thought and hold on tight.

PROPERTY TALK

Former home of a notorious '80s pop hero

This unusual gothic pile is a place of tall storeys – and a few tall stories, too. Its origins go back to the Crimean War, while former Duran Duran guitarist Andy Taylor owned a swanky penthouse here in the mid-1980s, playing cricket indoors and installing a large hot tub for parties.

In his autobiography, Wild Boy: A Life in Duran Duran, Taylor recounts how a hedonistic, drug-fuelled lifestyle sent him off the rails; he first left the group in the mid-'80s and reunited with his four former bandmates in 2001, but while recording an album in 2006, Taylor once again parted ways with the band.

The rooms in his old apartment in the Grade II-listed Royal Victoria Patriotic Building, near Wandsworth Common, have 20ft ceilings and the building has an interesting history, too, as it was built to house daughters of the forces orphaned by the Crimean War.

Now, the four-bed apartment lends itself to entertaining, with a mezzanine games room, according to agents Hamptons, and is on the market for £2.95m.

Grayson admits defeat in the promotion race

Coach says Surrey loss has all but extinguished hopes

by Oliver Harbord

oliver.harbord@hertsexnews.co.uk

ESSEX head coach Paul Grayson has conceded that defeat by Surrey has all but ended his side's chances of promotion from the LV= County Championship Division Two.

The Eagles were beaten by the Brown Caps by three wickets at Colchester's Castle Park on Monday, leaving them sixth in the table and 71 points outside the promotion spots.

With only four games remaining in the competition, Grayson accepted that a win was a must against their London opponents.

Essex set Surrey a tricky target of 313 to win with two and a half sessions to go in the game, but 87 from Arun Harinath and 56 not out from Gary Wilson guided Surrey to victory.

Grayson said: "The pitch was brilliant, slightly different to what we have been used to in Division Two for a number of years.

"There were twists and turns in the game all the way through, but I thought it was a good declaration from us.

"We knew that we had to try to win the game if we wanted to catch Surrey, so I thought it was fair.

"But all credit to Surrey for the way that they chased the runs down. I think that people that have come have witnessed a very good game of cricket.

"We never really got control of the game on the final day and were sort of leaking runs a bit too easily.

"We just couldn't really sustain enough pressure that may have led to more wickets for us. We did our best and we tried our hardest.

Brilliant

"But it was one of those days that things just didn't go our way, but it was a brilliant game of cricket."

The game also saw the return to first-class cricket for Monty Panesar, whose previous game was in April.

The former England spinner, whose contract is up at the end of the season, took 4-112 in the first innings, but struggled in the second, claiming just 1-88.

Grayson added: "I thought in the first innings he was really good, but maybe ran out of a little bit of steam in the second to be honest.

"He hasn't played a lot of cricket recently, so his legs were a little bit heavy.

"I think we all thought the pitch would deteriorate a little bit more and he would have won the game for us.

"But it wasn't to be, however, the more overs he bowls in the next few weeks, the better he will get. There is no doubt about that."

The Eagles will have to put the disappointment of the four-day game behind them now, however, as they travel to Edgbaston to take on the Birmingham Bears in the NatWest T20 Blast quarter-final tomorrow (Thursday).

In a repeat of last season's last-eight clash, Essex will be hoping to avenge the 19-run defeat in 2014.

Grayson added: "We will be assessing the squad tomorrow and we are confident that Jesse Ryder and Ryan ten Doeschate will be fully fit.

"The only one is Graham Napier, with his calf strain. We'll leave him as late as possible, it may be five to six on Thursday evening before we make a call on him.

"Shaun [Tait] is available as well, so the whole team is looking forward to Thursday night and we hope we can put in a big performance in up there."

We want to seize finals opportunity

TODAY (Thursday) we take on the Birmingham Bears in the NatWest T20 Blast quarter-finals at Edgbaston and it really is a season-defining game.

All eyes will be on the match, with a big chance to get through to Finals Day.

Everybody knows how big that is and how fantastic it would be to get there.

We will be looking for some revenge from last season, and we did manage to smash them in the Royal London One-Day Cup group match earlier this year.

They have dominated the North Group, like we did the South last year, but it doesn't matter what has happened in the group stages.

This is a one-off game and that is the nature of knockout cricket.

It is just one game to either have all the elation of making it to the finals or just fall short.

It is very cut-throat as we will really be under the microscope, and if you fail your team packs their bags, goes home and that is the end of the competition.

But I think Birmingham have got it all to lose, being the defending champions as well.

We are just three games away from winning the whole competition.

Edgbaston is great to play at, I have played there before in Finals Day and the atmosphere was brilliant.

It is a great place to play and, as it showed with the Ashes Test match there, it produces a good wicket.

It was a real shame that we were defeated by Surrey in the County Championship Division Two on Monday.

But it was great to see such a great game played at Castle Park, Colchester, which is my home ground.

It was a fantastic wicket and they got some great crowds down there, getting as many in for the Championship game as they do at Chelmsford.

It shows how well supported cricket is in Colchester and it is a brilliant place to play the game.

I would say it is probably the best outground in the country.

Cook delight at urn return

ALASTAIR COOK guided England to a superb Ashes victory over Australia after a stunning innings and 78-run win at Trent Bridge, Nottingham.

The Essex star and country's skipper scored 43 in the first innings as the bowlers dominated the contest.

It was sweet revenge for Cook after his side were defeated heavily Down Under, suffering a 5-0 whitewash in 2013/14. Now Cook is celebrating his second Ashes victory as captain and England head to The Oval on August 20 aiming to go 4-1 up.

Upcoming fixtures

■ Tomorrow (Thursday) Essex travel to Edgbaston to face Birmingham Bears in the NatWest T20 Blast quarter-finals

Week in numbers

313 The target Essex set Surrey with just over two sessions of the match to go.

4-112 Monty Panesar's first-innings figures after playing for Essex for the first time since April.

4 Nick Browne made his fourth county championship century of the summer, scoring 114.

Good week/ Bad week

Mark Pettini

Carried his one-day form into his debut first-class match of the season, top-scoring with 134 in the first innings before making 25 in the second innings

Matt Salisbury

No wickets for young Matt, and not many overs either. In Surrey's first innings his seven overs went for 18, while in the second innings he bowled just one over, conceding two runs.

Ramya century after death of his mentor

RAMYA UPADHYAY hit a superb century as Harlow Town recorded a big win to move away from the drop zone in Shepherd Neame Cricket League Division Two.

Batting first, Town posted a formidable 258 from their 50 overs.

After openers Shiraz Ali (17) and Ashley Alderson (14) went rather cheaply, leaving Town at 40-2, Joe Holland (26) and Pat Yates (15) took it up to 147-4.

Upadhyay then took control. Gladwin supported him with a run a ball 32, but this was Upadhyay's day.

He brought up his third league hundred of the campaign with complete ease.

Upadhyay was out soon afterwards for 108 and Town's tailenders quickly subsided.

Gladwin said: "Ram is a class act, he is the one guy in the side who is utterly driven to score runs on a regular basis."

"He was unusually quiet leading up to the game and throughout his innings."

"We found out afterwards that his great friend and cricketing mentor Jayanti Dharajia had passed away [in India] during the week, I can't think of a more perfectly timed tribute Ram could have given him."

In reply, in the first ball of the second over Owais Qasim removed Horndon opener Jack Walsh, caught well by Alderson at gully.

Alderson bowled both Martin Sayers and Tom Stone before Gladwin held a one-handed screamer off Qasim to remove captain and danger man Jeff West in the slips.

Farmer's seam removed Connor Hammond's off stump as Horndon collapsed to 50-5.

Gary Ginsburgh (62) and Shahbaz Iqbal (55) moved the score along to 152.

But Horndon fell away after their departure, and were all out for 203.

The results allowed Town to leapfrog Horndon in the table.

The wickets were shared by Shaun Alderson (3-36), Qasim (2-31) Farmer (1-21), Elston (2-47) and Upadhyay (2-40).

Gladwin added: "We know there is an awful lot of work to do, but we now know that our destiny is in our own hands."

Marklew takes Welsh glory

WILL MARKLEW was in trophy winning form again as he picked up the U20 javelin crown at the Welsh International at Cardiff International Stadium.

Competing for England South, the Harlow Athletic Club member took first place with a winning throw of 54.14m.

Although short of his personal best, the windy conditions created a challenge for all athletes.

In just his first year in the U20 age group, the talented youngster has already picked up numerous titles, including south of England javelin champion, Eastern Region indoor U20 shot put champion and UK U18 decathlon champion.

Narrowly missing out on selection for the GB squad for the World Youth Games in Colombia, the next major event will be the English Schools Decathlon finals in September, where Will is very much hoping for a medal.

Sonko stars as Hawks start season in style

Ex-Reading defender one of four debutants for Town

Ryman North
Harlow Tn 2
Cheshunt 0

IBRAHIMA SONKO gave every indication he could stay at Harlow Town for a while after shining in the Hawks' opening day victory over Cheshunt.

Goals from Alex Read and Junior Dadson got the Hawks off to a flying start in their Ryman North opener on Saturday.

Senegalese Sonko, 34, who was playing in Turkey after a spell in the Premier League which took in Reading, as well as Stoke City and Hull, made his debut after gaining international clearance only days before.

Sonko said: "It was a good result for the team. It was a good start, to keep the clean sheet is a bonus."

"It gives everyone confidence. From the first time I came here the boys have been fantastic. They are very fine players. There's a thin line between them playing here and playing in the Football League."

U-turn

"It could be a good season. Some of the players look up to me. It's up to me not to go down to another level. I need to keep it as high as I can. The only way to get success is if you are professional. We need to be positive."

"One of my best friends is [former Hawks captain] Leo Roget and he has always been living in Harlow. I have known about the football club."

"I was close last year [to signing] when I came back from Turkey and finishing the season here. I love the boys at the club and the people."

"I need to stay fit and I will play as long as I can. If I have nothing, I am here and I am playing football and I am loving it. That's the main thing."

Sonko was one of four debutants: winger Joe Benjamin, centre-half Sam West and goalkeeper Niklas Freund, the son of former Tottenham Hotspur star Steven Freund, also played.

Billy Jones, having signed for opponents Cheshunt from the Hawks in the summer, also started for the hosts having done a U-turn on his decision to join the Hertfordshire club.

Former Harlow players Tom Bruno, Joe Clemo and Dave Kendall all played for Cheshunt as the match had an incestuous feel to it.

Adding to the familiarity, Cheshunt are managed by former Harlow boss Glen Alzapiedi, while Paul Wickenden is his new assistant.

But all eyes were on Sonko and he looked a class apart, forming an impressive partnership with fellow new signing West as Harlow kept a clean sheet.

Harlow took the lead on 19 minutes when Read turned and rifled a great strike into the net.

The second goal came on 57 minutes when Read held the ball up well, allowing Junior Dadson to rifle home.

Hawks boss Danny Chapman said: "We looked strong. Ibrahima Sonko showed why he has played at the level he has played at. He was head and shoulders above the rest."

"We looked a proper defensive unit and last season that was something we lacked a bit."

"After we scored the first goal we saw the game out. We were professional about how we did our business."

Another plus for Harlow was the return of defender Sam Holloway after six months out with a double leg fracture. He was a substitute.

HARLOW TN: Freund, Pope, Eadie, Dadson, West, Sonko, Jones, Antoine, Benjamin, Cowley, Read. Subs: Perkins, Melaugh, Holloway, Prince, Carroll.

England U23 AAAs is the target for Snook

COACH Nat Fisher believes the hard work of Will Snook is paying off as he shattered a Harlow Athletic Club record.

Snook, 19, beat a 400m club record time set by Olympic 2012 800m finalist Andrew Osagie when he competed at the CAU Inter Counties and AAAs Championships at Bedford last Saturday.

Representing Essex, Snook ran the heat of the 400m, taking third in a personal best (PB) of 48.74sec.

Later that day Snook ran a brilliant semi-final in the outside lane to take third again, qualifying for the final in an amazing 48.27, again another club record.

The following day he lined up for the final again in the outside lane.

He showed guts and courage placing seventh and once again he improved his PB to 48.24, beating the club record for the third consecutive time during the weekend.

Fisher said: "He did marvellously. He got a PB in his heat, in his semi and a PB in the final."

"He has a really positive attitude. That's what we have been really working on."

Snook, whose uncle Craig Snook is a veteran of the Harlow Athletic Club's senior men's team, is targeting the U23 England AAA Championships next year, when he could be competing against athletes more than two years older than him.

He has been a member of the Mark Hall Sportcentre-based club for four years, but has come on leaps and bounds since he has focused solely on the 400m and dropped the 800m.

Fisher explained: "The 400m is his strongest discipline. Although we want to get him better at the 200."

When asked whether he can follow in the footsteps of Osagie and represent Great Britain in the future, Fisher said: "That's a hard question. He has to work hard to advance."

"I don't see any reason why he can't get down to 46 seconds [in the 400m]."

He has still found time to represent Harlow Athletic Club in the Southern Men's League on several occasions when he has been back home.

"He will try and make a real effort for the U23 AAAs next year. He trains every day of the week," added Fisher.

"He has run against the top runners in his category. "But his education comes first. That's what I always say to my athletes."

Snook's displays at Bedford helped Essex retain the overall title for the fourth year running.

Harlow athletes are world class

HARLOW Athletic Club members Dawn Jones and Richard Chiassaro have returned from top tournaments justifiably proud.

Jones was 12th in the heptathlon at the World Masters Championships (over 45 category) in Lyon, France.

Chiassaro won four gold medals at the British Wheelchair Racing Association Championships at Stoke Mandeville.

Jones has just stepped up to this age group.

She secured 4305 points in total.

Her results were: 800m (2min 39.70sec); 80m hurdles (14.03); high jump (1.46m); long jump (4.02m); 4km shot put (6.61m); and javelin (16.19m).

Some 22 athletes from all over the world competed in her category in total.

Jones said: "I was a bit disappointed but I will get over it. I thought I would have a good chance of a medal, but once the closing date for entries came near, I know that would be a bit ambitious.

"It was 38 degree heat and I'm not good in the heat."

Jones, competing in a multi-event at the World Masters Championships for the first time, was delighted with her time in the final event of two days' gruelling competition: the 800m.

She finished second in this race and was only beaten by the overall winner, Holland's Monique Kresling, securing a phenomenal personal best (PB) time by ten seconds.

Jones' time would have put her into the final of the individual 800m, it was that good. She joked it was better than a time she recorded 20 years ago!

This event followed up Jones' excellent display at the British Masters Championships in Birmingham.

She won the W45 high jump (1.40m) in very windy conditions which made jumping difficult.

She was second in the W45 long jump (4.35m) and was fifth in the W45 200m (29.55 PB) despite a strong headwind.

Chiassaro, meanwhile, won the 100m, 200m, 400m and 800m, all close to PB times.

He said: "I was really pleased with my 100 as there was a strong head wind of -2.1 metres a second and still pushed 14.71 so really happy with that."

"Great 400m too and also my 800m was most impressive. I went out hard from the start and took the lead straight away and was 60m ahead when I finished."

Chiassaro is preparing for the World Championships in Doha in October.

SPEAR OF SUCCESS: Dawn Jones competes in the 800m in the over 45 age group heptathlon at the World Masters Championships in Lyon

Running

Jephcott just short of HRC record time

HARLOW Running Club member Daniel Jephcott finished the Harlow parkrun 5K in second place out of 137 finishers.

He recorded a fantastic 19min 23sec, just 12 seconds outside of the HRC U20 record.

Harten drives England on

JO HARTEN'S England beat Wales 78-33 in the Netball World Cup yesterday (Wednesday).

The former St Mark's, Harlow student produced a fantastic display, continually driving her side on, bagging 29 from 30.

On Tuesday, England suffered a 51-41 defeat to Australia.

As main goal shooter she scored 30 of her side's 41 points.

She later tweeted: "The beauty of playing the worlds best is that a lesson can always be learnt and a benchmark can be measured. So much more to give."

Reigning World Champions Australia will now play England in the next qualifying phase after the pool stages due to their shock defeat to New Zealand.

England had eased through the first group stage after wins against Jamaica and Trinidad & Tobago.

The tournament is being held at the Olympic complex in Sydney, site of the 2000 Games.

Harten previously lived on the Church Langley estate in Harlow with her parents.

Widely recognised as one of England's greatest ever players, she has played semi-professional netball in New Zealand.

The Roses are still hoping to make the semi-final, where they are likely to meet New Zealand on Saturday.

Wood's journey from Harlow to Gibraltar

Former keeper and coach takes over national team

by Alan Scott

alan.scott@hertssexnews.co.uk

GIBRALTAR is certainly rocking for former Harlow Town goalkeeper and coach Jeff Wood.

The former custodian is taking on the likes of Germany, Scotland and Republic of Ireland as he spearheads the newest FIFA football nation in their first ever tournament qualification campaign.

Wood, who kept goal for Harlow in the 1970s before a professional career which took in the likes of Charlton Athletic, Colchester United and Exeter City, has been appointed head coach on the British Overseas Territory on the south coast of Spain.

He made 700 appearances in the Football League, but has equally impressed as a coach where he helped England keeper John Ruddy break through at Norwich City when he was goalkeeping coach at Carrow Road.

He is the Gibraltar FA's coach educator responsible for the education and development of coaches in Gibraltar and delivering courses in accordance with the UEFA coaching convention.

World Champions

Wood's first games in charge saw his side play Croatia in a friendly before his first European Championships qualifier, when his side lost 7-0 to World Champions Germany.

Explaining his move from Norwich to Gibraltar and his plans for the national side, he said: "My main aim at present is to put in place a structure that brings talented young players into the national squads at all age groups, we need to take a big step forward on the coaching front and prepare these players for the challenge that is in front of them."

"I did five years as technical director here and we moved many things forward, we put in place a coach education programme, introduced women's football, and many other things, but from a personal point of view we weren't in UEFA, so when I got the call to go to Norwich I left, and things went really well there, promotion to the Premier League and finishing 12th in the top flight of English football.

"The manager [Paul Lambert] changed and I moved on to Leeds with Neil Warnock, then to Luton with my mate John Still, and we got promotion to the Football League.

"I was also coaching Wales U21, U19 and U17 age groups and we had a very successful time.

"Then I had the offer to come back and manage a club in Gibraltar which led me to the national job.

"Now they are in UEFA, football has moved on again with most clubs bringing in foreign players and training five or six times a week. The standard has really moved on.

"This is a fantastic opportunity given that I have been involved with Gibraltarian football in the past."

It is a far cry from his time at Harlow.

Academy director

He returned to the Essex club in the 2002-03 season when he worked as a coach under John Kendall and also became the club's first ever Academy Director, which he ran in conjunction with Harlow College.

He subsequently became director of coaching at the European Soccer School in Spain, before making his coaching breakthrough and becoming involved at Norwich, Leeds and Luton.

Although Gibraltar lost heavily to Germany, Wood is bringing in a new attacking ethos and believes this is the only way forward.

"I have tried to change the mentality by actually attacking these sides which is reflected in match statistics," he said.

"I think if we are to make progress we need to pose a threat to every country we play. We have to be disciplined defensively but we need to cause the opposition problems.

"The players have been absolutely fantastic and I couldn't have asked any more of them in those two games, but it is only the start of a long road."

A tough goalkeeper in his playing days, Wood enjoyed spells in Finland, Malta and even a short period in China before hanging up his boots.

He has not only coached or managed in England, but also in Spain, Malta, Finland and the USA.

And now Wood is at the cusp of a new period in his life as he looks to make the grade as an international boss.

Republic of Ireland are their next opponents on September 4.

Wood added: "I just enjoy football and have been fortunate to play, coach and manage in many different countries, meeting some great people along the way."

'WE COULD HAVE WALKED AWAY'

Future's bright but Cunningham recalls tough times

by Alan Scott

alan.scott@hertsexnews.co.uk

TOM CUNNINGHAM has revealed that Hawks owners Platinum Sports Management and himself came close to walking away from the football club two seasons ago.

Having put in tens of thousands of pounds only to see the club fail to go up, the team considered letting someone else take on the challenge of rebuilding Harlow Town FC.

But the last throw of the dice was when the investment was secured to install the 3G artificial pitch.

Cunningham, 59, the club's chief executive, says this was the key to preserving HTFC – even though there will not be Ryman Premier football at The Harlow Arena again this season.

The future looks much brighter now and the Hawks, who kicked off their league season with a 2-0 win against Cheshunt on Saturday, have made some fantastic summer signings including the feather in the cap of former Reading defender Ibrahima Sonko.

But it was a very different story when Cunningham and John Barnett first took over in 2010.

"When we came here the club was in disarray. We had backed it, to the point where two seasons ago were we going to continue to back it or were we going to walk away?" Cunningham revealed.

"It was becoming a money pit. What we ended up doing was looking at the potential. Was there one other thing out there that could potentially turn this business around and turn the fortunes of the club around?

"That 3G surface is going to achieve that. What I am encouraged by is that if you look at the situation two seasons ago we had a first team, a squad of 18 players and nothing underneath it.

Difficult

"Now through a lot of hard work from a lot of people we have now got a full-time academy which will be 40 strong starting next season."

Cunningham recalls the difficult times before Platinum Sports Management took over ownership, and even subsequently the club have fought off winding-up orders for unpaid debts a few years ago.

Even now the club is subject to a CVA (Compulsory Voluntary Agreement) to pay off its debts.

Cunningham said: "We know the difficult times the club has been through to get where we are now. The reason for that is the infrastructure we have put in and the support of parents.

"We just want everybody to come and play football. Let them enjoy themselves. Let them enjoy the site, which it's what it was built for.

"If we can grow this and get support. I don't know how long it's going to take. I told the fans a couple of years ago 'if you all die tomorrow who is going to support the football club?' No one. What we have done is put the roots down and we have now got a chance.

"In three or four years' time there is a chance that most of the boys in our academy have played for us through different years. Eventually you either get players, coaches or supporters.

"If everyone who has come through here has enjoyed it and felt part of it, then it will be everyone's second club if it's not their first.

"Why can't you support Harlow? You can still support a Premier League club but support Harlow as well.

"We need people to associate us not with the level we are playing at, but what we are trying to generate.

"We want people to come along and enjoy it, associate having good times here and not being judged.

"It's a football club. It's somewhere that puts a smile on your face."

Harlow head into top test in great form

Shepherd Neame Essex League, Division One

Woodford Wells 170-9

Harlow 171-3

Harlow won by seven wickets

A MAGNIFICENT 126-run partnership between teenager Alan Jones and experienced batsman Ahmed Khawaja has lit the touchpaper for Harlow's shot at promotion.

The seven-wicket victory at Woodford Wells has left the Marigolds men with a terrific chance of going up to the Premier Division.

Rehman Ahmed's men are still in fourth, 37 points off second-place Southend-on-Sea.

Deciding to bowl first, Harlow took wickets before Woodford put together a partnership of 41 between captain Joe Johnson and Gareth James.

Spin was then introduced and Lloyd Sykes struck immediately by inducing a false shot out of Johnson to the boundary, where he found a flying Khawaja.

Both spinners turned the screw, bowling tight lengths and picking up wickets.

Ross Vasani ended with 3-37 but the pick of the bowlers was Sykes with 3-19.

From 114-7 off 36 overs, the Wells tailenders batted out the overs, taking the score to 170-9 off 50 overs.

In reply, Harlow lost Hafiz Yawar for ten and the skipper for one, both to lbw decisions.

Jones batted through with Khawaja for a partnership of 126 until Jones was caught at mid-wicket for a magnificent 72.

Khawaja then hit three consecutive sixes to win the game in just 33 overs, with a superb knock of 68 not out.

This made it four successive victories for Harlow, who play host to leaders Hornchurch on Saturday.

Keeper error costs Hawks

THE Hawks dropped two points when a late goal gave hosts Wroxham a point in Norfolk on Tuesday.

The deadlock was finally broken on 74 minutes when Dave Cowley's free-kick was slotted home by Alex Read.

Striker Read certainly appears to have carried on where he left off last season – he already has two goals in two games.

But an error from goalkeeper Niklas Freund gifted the Yachtsman an equaliser on 82 minutes.

The German came for a long free-kick.

He tried to punch the ball clear but only succeeded in punching it into his own net in the 1-1 draw.

The season gets tougher for Harlow when they visit Cray Wanderers on Saturday in Ryman North, before a trip to Wingate & Finchley in the Robert Dias League Cup on Tuesday.
